Product description

The part we are presenting is an original rear axle side member (right) for the Porsche 911 from the 992.1 series, also known under the OEM number 992505064A. This component is designed specifically for Porsche 911 models from the 992 series, ensuring a perfect fit and optimal functionality in these vehicles.

The product is used, but its condition has been rated as very good and undamaged, which indicates minimal signs of wear and tear and high quality. As an original Porsche part, this component not only ensures a perfect fit, but also maintains the original driving and safety parameters that are crucial for the driving characteristics and durability of the Porsche 911.

Purchasing this part is an excellent decision for those looking for authentic spare parts that will provide long-lasting service and reliability, restoring the vehicle to its factory condition. It is ideal for restoration, collision repairs or as a replacement for a damaged component, ensuring that the car remains in its original, unaltered condition.
